Wig-A-Mog hosts Hal. Chamber of Comm. annual meeting

Art Ward "Highlander of the Year"

HALIBURTON — At last week's annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, Art Ward, owner-operator of Wig-A-Mog Inn on Kashagawigamog Lake, was the fifth recipient of the "Highlander of the Year" award. Mr. Ward was chosen for his outstanding contributions and service to the community. Art was first elected to the HHCC in 1968 and served as a board member and president until 1975. He was also president of the Haliburton Rotary Club and had a great deal to do with the building of the beautiful new tennis courts in the village, the new squash courts and also one of the founders of the winter carnival. Mr. Ward is presently the chairman of Tourism Ontario, recently elected to a two year term.

Glen Hodgson Awarded Life Membership

HALIBURTON — The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce also added another name to their "honourable life membership" in the person of Glen Hodgson. This award, not given every year, was bestowed upon Mr. Hodgson for his work as head of the County Economic Development Commission over the past 18 months.

1980-81 Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors

HALIBURTON — At the annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, attended by more than 100 people, one of the major items on the agenda was the election of the twelve-man board of directors. The following will serve on that board for the 1980-81

Museumobile Can. North here Oct.22-27

HALIBURTON — Canada North the first Museumobile produced by the National Museums of Canada, opened its doors to the public in Margaree Forks, Cape Breton in 1973 and has since travelled through the Atlantic Provinces, Northern Ontario and the Prairie Provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. A second Museumobile, Canada West, was launched in Margaree Forks in 1976, and Atlantic Canada opened in Victoria, BC in 1977.

Canada North contains many fascinating items on display, including models of pre-ice age animals such as the woolly mammoth, scimitar cat and saiga antelope; mounts of contemporary fauna, including the arctic hare, wolverine, snowy owl and long-tailed jaeger; Inuit utensils, hunting implements and clothing; a Viking ship model; actual artifacts from early explorer ships; a model of houses constructed on permafrost, and collections of whaling harpoons, religious artifacts, hunter's traps, Northwest Mounted Police regalia and vintage communications equipment.

The Museumobile caravan is assembled in a U-shaped configuration. It can be set up or dismantled in just 1½ hours and can be parked at a shopping centre, school yard, park or community centre. A diesel generator provides all the necessary power for the exhibit, including heating and air conditioning for year round operation.

Each Museumobile tours the country for 45 weeks a year, attracting an average of 85 visitors per viewing hour. It will be located in the Dysart Community Centre from Oct. 22 to Oct. 27 with free admission to all.

C of C Annual Meeting

HALIBURTON — Wig-A-Mog Inn on the shores of Kashagawigamog Lake was the site of the 1980 annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, last Wednesday evening. More than 100 members of the Chamber attended the dinner, dance and annual meeting, hosted by Art Ward, Innkeeper of Wig-A-Mog.

Special head table guests were MPP John Eakins and Bruce Potter from the Ministry of Industry and Tourism.

Outgoing president of the Chamber, John Hogg opened the meeting with his comments on the past year's activities. He told the audience that they managed to have a much closer working relationship with the Central Ontario Tourist Association and the Ministry of Industry and Tourism due to the efforts of the Haliburton County Economic Development Commission led by the tireless work of its president Glen Hodgson and his committee.

As for the Chambers promotional program this year, in respect to quality and dispersal, Mr. Hogg was still not satisfied. He told the gathering that this will be greatly improved in the new year.

Chamber Manager, Bob Stinson then addressed the members and advised them of a new promotional program for 1981. In a special committee formed to look very closely at the promotion of the county, the committee felt that the 1980 lure book was not satisfactory as it tried to do too many things. The 1981 lure book will be strictly a directory with 25,000 copies to be printed. It will not be a lure book as such any longer. It will instead be a colour brochure for distribution outside the county. These brochures will be sent to travel agencies who have been seeking same for sometime new, both here in the province and the U.S. No individual advertising will appear in this new lure book. Advertising will be restricted to the new directory only. There will be a winter and summer guide included in this new lure book, complete with accommodation information for the entire county.

Following the meeting and the guest speakers remarks, the final order of business was the election of the 1980-81 Board of Directors. The new board will consist of Jim McLean, Barbara Bolin, Rhonda Elstone, Dave Chatfield, James Orr, Keith Stephenson, Curtis Eastmere, Shawn Hagerman, Barry Shaw, Don Blakey, Ken Langdon and Dave Willis.

GOVERNMENT AND HYDRO ANNOUNCE SUPPORT FOR FUSION RESEARCH

Ontario Energy Minister Robert Welch and Ontario Hydro Chairman Hugh Macaulay recently indicated strong support for fusion research and development. Mr. Welch announced a $250,000, five-year grant for fusion research to the Institute of Aerospace Studies at the University of Toronto (UTIAS). Under the terms of the grant, the Ministry will contribute $50,000 a year for five years.

Mr. Macaulay said Hydro budgeted $50,000 for fusion in 1980 and anticipated increased activity in future years including the possibility of associating Hydro personnel with the UTIAS project. Early in 1981 Hydro will be reviewing its activities related to fusion upon receipt of the study now in progress by a group of Ontario engineers and scientists for the National Research Council. This study is identifying those aspects of a fusion materials and engineering program most appropriate for investigation in Canada.

In making the announcement Mr. Welch said that the Ministry of Energy has supported the Institute's work on fusion for three years and that progress has been made to the point where it is now felt that a five-year grant "would add much-needed continuity to their research program".

The Institute also receives some funding from the Federal Government through the Natural Science and Engineering Research Council (NSERC). Grants for fusion research come under NSERC's "strategic" category.

Fusion energy is produced by converting mass into energy through the controlled fusing of the heavy isotopes of hydrogen. Since hydrogen is in plentiful supply throughout the world, scientists believe that the development of a successful fusion reactor could result in an essentially inexhaustible supply of energy.

Mr. Welch pointed out that it will require many years of intensive research and development to achieve this goal. One major problem is the confinement of the "fusion fire" or plasma. This plasma must reach a temperature of approximately 50 million degrees celsius and is confined by powerful magnetic fields. A few high energy particles do escape however and impact on the surrounding container.

Since the development of materials which can co-exist with the plasma is one of the important practical challenges to be met in harnessing fusion energy, the Institute's Fusion UTIAS' Group is concentrating its research efforts on developing these materials and the complementary engineering skills which will be needed.

Specifically, research will focus on a particular aspect of plasma-surface interaction: the influence of atomic hydrogen isotopes on materials. So far, the interaction of atomic hydrogen isotopes with most candidate materials has resulted in rapid surface erosion, high permeation rates, and metal embrittlement, to name a few of the difficulties.

Mr. Welch summed up by saying: "The Ontario Government and Ontario Hydro fully support the nature of the UTIAS research. We are hopeful that this five-year grant will enable the researchers involved in the project to develop new, more resistant materials which can be used in the commercial development of fusion power. Through such research we hope to establish a role for Canadian industry in this new and developing technology."

Ontario and E.B. Eddy sign two forest management agreements

Two forest management agreements covering the 5,312-square-mile upper and lower Spanish River forests have been signed by Ontario Natural Resources Minister James Auld and representatives of E. B. Eddy Forest Products Ltd.

The agreements are the third and fourth in a series under the new forest management program begun this year by the Ministry.

Under an F.M.A. the company agrees to undertake forest regeneration and other management practices in conjunction with timber harvesting.

Earlier this year similar forest management agreements were signed with Abitibi-Price Inc. for the Iroquois Falls forest in northeastern Ontario, and Great Lakes Forest Products Limited for the English River forest in northwestern Ontario.

Mr. Auld said that the agreements provide for sustained yield forest management in which "we will pay the company the Ministry's costs of basic regeneration treatments and subsidize road construction."

Each forest management agreement is for a 20-year term, but will be reviewed at five-year intervals. If performance is satisfactory, it is then extended for another five years.

Metric conversion is back in the news again. Ottawa has finally admitted there is not enough time for Canadian food retailers to change from ounces and pounds to grams and kilograms before January 1, 1981, the original deadline. (Surprise, surprise)

Conversion of food store scales to metric was set to begin in Ottawa and twenty other communities last January, but was postponed by the Conservative government.

Roger Worth is Director, Public Affairs, Canadian Federation of Independent Business.

ATHLETES GET

Meanwhile, consumers, confused over the relationship between weights and prices in at least one of the cities where metric was tested, have reacted strongly against introduction of the changeover. As always, it's consumers who will pay the eventual cost.

But while the high profile, food weights issue is receiving a lot of attention, little is said of the complaints from industry that Ottawa is moving too fast on metrification, particularly since Canada's major trading partner has decided to soft-pedal the issue.

Following a public uproar, American politicians backed away from conversion, at least for now.

This has created difficult problems for Canadian firms exporting to the U.S. A lot of companies are forced to provide one size or weight of product for Canadians, and another for U.S. buyers.

The duplication of effort has resulted in higher costs, making some Canadian products less competitive in the U.S. market.

It's fine for Ottawa's esoteric metricators to talk about Canadian export sales to Europe, Japan and other parts of the world where the metric system is used. But 70% of Canada's trade is with the U.S.

In the longer term, metrification may in fact be desirable, even necessary. But moving to a new system of weights and measures ahead of our major trading partner is creating problems we don't need.

CAR CARE

Helpful Tips To Save You Money

CAR CHECK COULD SAVE A DOLLAR AN HOUR

Are you buying more gas than you need to? You very well may be, according to Car Care Council, which says many motorists may be wasting gas at the rate of as much as a dollar an hour because they are neglecting their cars.

According to a recent consumer survey, says the Council, the majority of cars in both self-serve and full-service stations are not being checked as often as they should be. Some parts which are critical to fuel economy, such as spark plugs and air filters, are in substandard condition.

One out of three filters checked in a recent survey was found to be dirty. And the Council estimates that a car needing a tune-up, spark plugs and an air filter could be consuming gas at a rate twenty percent above normal. For the owner of a big car using premium fuel at highway speeds, this adds up to a dollar's worth of gas an hour going out the tail pipe.

Checking and replacing the air filter is one of the easiest things a motorist can do on his or her car, according to the Council. It sits conveniently on top of the engine, usually secured in its housing with a single wing nut.

Most air filters are made of a pleated paper which traps the air-borne abrasive materials out of the air before they can enter the carburetor. The filter should be checked every six months.

Although most car makers recommend replacement at 24,000 to 30,000 or more often under dusty conditions, many owners change the air filter as an annual maintenance habit to ensure maximum fuel economy.

DATED: October 2, 1980.

GERALD BAIN,

Clerk of The Corporation of the Township of Stanhope, Relaxation is the key to sound sleep — try a warm milky drink and a hot bath.

Can't sleep, you say? Relax — and reach for something warm and milky

So you like a nightcap to help you sleep?

Forget it — unless it's warm and milky.

Many of us have trouble sleeping sometimes but alcohol is no solution.

"Alcohol may help you fall asleep, but it can also cause restlessness in the early morning hours," say Derick Birdsall, senior research and development manager of Horlicks. The company makes a malted bedtime drink, popular in many European countries, which is now available in Canada.

According to Birdsall, there is some truth to that old wife's tale about taking a warm, milky drink to help you sleep. Studies at the University of Edinburgh and Guy's Hospital in London show that drinking a mug of hot Horlicks — mixing the malted food drink base with hot milk — can help prepare you for a more restful sleep.

The study subjects who drank Horlicks and hot milk tended to sleep more restfully, and in some cases longer, than those who took either plain hot milk or a placebo, a dummy sleeping pill.

The importance of the research results were recognized by the British Medical Journal: "In an era of heavy prescribing of hypnotic drugs, this is a welcome finding." Research has shown that the effects of Horlicks can increase with repeated use, whereas sleeping pills may become less effective.

Birdsall says although the researchers are agreed on the benefits of Horlicks, they aren't yet sure why Horlicks has the effect it does on sleep. "But it is accepted that relaxing with a warm, milky, soothing drink helps you wind down at the end of the day. This in itself encourages sleep."

Many of us have trouble sleeping sometimes, but we don't like to admit it, he says.

For some, it may be an admission of having a guilty conscience or a poor sex life.

Others realize that sleep problems can be due to unresolved tension and they won't admit that they can't handle their problems.

Birdsall points out that we don't all need the same amount of sleep, and, in fact, we tend to need less as we grow older.

"Sometimes we worry about sleep needlessly, and often unnecessarily rely on sleeping pills."

"But relaxation is the key to sound sleep."

A regular routine, perhaps including a warm, soothing bath and a warm, milky drink such as Horlicks helps you unwind, he says.

"Try to sleep at a regular time to avoid disturbing your body's natural rhythms. Sleep in a comfortable bed, if possible in a dark, quiet room where you won't be disturbed."

"Avoid extremes of temperature. You should feel neither hot nor cold."

Regular physical exercise will also help you sleep more soundly, he says — but don't over-do it and don't work out too late in the day.

Avoid stimulants such as caffeine-containing drinks and alcohol.

"People's requirements for sleep differ, so don't worry if your sleep patterns differ from those around you," he says. "A light sleep may be all that you need. A nap during the day may be sufficient to relax and refresh you."

But if your sleep worries are severe, Birdsall warns, consult a doctor — don't try self-medication. "A doctor can prescribe a suitable treatment for you."

If you follow these guidelines, he says, "you'll never have to count sheep again."

STANHOPE NOTES

by A. F. Stevenson

Stanhope's memorial cairn to the township pioneers is known to many township residents, yet not so well known to others. Standing near the roadside of Boshkung Road, a short distance west of highway 35 the cairn bears a plaque on which are the names of early residents who were buried in the nearby cemetery during the 1800's. While driving recently, on one of those wet days, we drove past the cairn almost missing it entirely (had we been strangers there is little doubt that it would not have been noticed.) Stopping, we returned to the site, studied the surroundings and were not too impressed with this effort to honour the memory of those courageous, hard working people.

Perhaps it was the rather drizzly overcast day, or perhaps it was the growth of shrubbery, creeping ever closer to the cairn and threatening to hide it altogether, but from somewhere in our mind came the line "— forever lost in the mists of time." Stanhope residents should make it their concern that their tribute to the pioneer families will always be visible, as well as an inspiration to the future generations.

Another worthy project which is being pursued by Township clerk Gerald Bain is that of restoration of the log chute at Hawk Lake. If Gerald's search for grants bears fruit, the project will at sometime in the future be carried out.

Re the election for Township council, it is difficult to believe that all who are intending to run have declared their wish to be supported at the polls. Of the three known candidates, two have been frequent attendants at council meetings as well as participating in township activities.

We would assume that anyone not having been

Arsenault - Adamson Wedding

Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church in Minden was the setting in early September of the marriage of Patricia Arsenault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Arsenault of RR 2 Minden, to Mr. Thomas Adamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Adamson, of Kingston, Ont. The service was officiated by the brides uncle, Rev. Paul Arsenault of Our Lady of the Cape Shrine at Cap-de-la-Madelaine, Quebec.

The bride wore a white satin dress with a redingote of chantilly lace and also a full veil trimmed in chantilly lace. Her flowers were of pink tiger-lily, burgundy roses and white lily-of-the-valley.

She was attended by Maid of Honour, Miss Pam Morrison of Whitby, Ont., bridesmaids Marilyn Arsenault, sister of the bride, Debra Adamson, sister of the groom, Carmel Tohill, Donna McKay, and junior flower girl Catherine Arsenault, niece of the bride. They wore gowns of pink with cover ups of pink and burgundy and carried flowers of pink tiger-lilies.

The groom wore a white tuxedo suit with burgundy vest and accessories. Best man was Mr. Keith Friendship of Pembroke, Ont., and ushers were Paul Arsenault, brother of the bride, Robert Bonutti, Darrell McKay and Mike Plante all in burgundy suits.

During a very moving service by Father Paul, the vows written by the bride and groom for the double ring ceremony were solomized.

The reception was held at the Stanhope Firehall for the many out of town guests including relatives from Quebec, Kingston, Peterborough, Oshawa, Whitby, Toronto, Barrie and California.

The happy couple left for their honeymoon, a tour of Quebec, New Brunswick and the northern States. They are now residing in Kingston, Ont.

visible by now would have only a minimal interest in township affairs, at least as they relate to township government. At township council meeting Wed., Oct. 10th, the candidates for election to council who went to the trouble of showing an interest in councilmanic affairs, apart from the present members of Council, were candidates Ann Barker and Dale MacDonald.

Thus it may be assumed, from the interest and participation shown, that no one else will be contesting the councilmanic positions other than Elvin Johnson, Harry Davis, Dale MacDonald and Ann Barker.

If others emerge it will be interesting to see how they explain their lack of interest in affairs in the Council chamber, and their unwillingness to submit their candidacy to the light of public scrutiny in sufficient time to give the electors a lengthier opportunity to evaluate their usefulness to the township.

For those citizens who have been concerned with the 66 foot lakeshore allowance controversy, we can report that the subject came up at Township Council and the township clerk read out a letter received from the Ministry of Housing for Ontario. The gist of the Ministries letter was that the blanket by-law re allowances would require an accurate description of all the lands affected by the by-law and that a survey description would be necessary for describing the lands for posting and advertising purposes. As the Ministry says the amount of shoreline in Stanhope would make the necessary survey work financially prohibitive.

The Ministry letter went on to say that the township should only consider blanket closure of original road allowances when it can be shown that no person will be deprived of an access to a body of water on his or her property.

Recently we mentioned that Bob Davis would be showing his slides acquired during his trip into Canada's far northland. Councilman Harry Davis advises us that the date for the very interesting showing will be Nov. 21st. and that the show will be arranged so that there will be an intermission for coffee.

We understand that there will be no admission charged, but donations to the Terry Fox Fund will be accepted instead of an admission fee. A really worthy effort and typical of young people like Bob Davis.

The hoped for report on the Assessment impact study was not forthcoming at the recent council meeting due to the fact that it has not been completed by the Assessment Commission for this region. We are looking forward to this report to determine how reliable was the earlier predictions by the representatives of the Assessment Commission that the likely changes would be acceptable.

The council showed their concern by insisting on an impact study before indicating any interest in acceptance of the provincially inspired proposed for equalized assessment. Eventually it will be imposed on the ratepayers, but not by this council if it imposes any unreasonable hardship on the average ratepayer.

Lind. Trojans defence scores 3TD's bounce Redmen 26-9

HALIBURTON — Whenever the defensive squad of a football team holds their opposition to just one TD in a game, they generally end up winning that game. However, this wasn't the case on Wednesday afternoon in Haliburton, as the Redmen offence gave up three offensive TDs on interceptions and ended up on the shortend of a 26-9 score with the Lindsay Trojans. The victory for the powerful Trojans, who have scored a total of 77 pts. in their four games played and only yielded 17 to their opponents, have vaulted into first place with eight pts. and a two-point edge over the Haliburton team. In their last three games the Lindsay Collegiate Vocational Institute seniors have downed Fenelon Falls 19-1 and Brock 32-7. The game with the Redmen last week was a four-pointer which helped them to their first place standing.

In the first quarter of their game with the Trojans, the Redmen had a very strong wind at their backs and jumped into an easy 9-0 lead.

Two big plays shortly after the opening whistle enabled the Redmen to put seven of those points on the board. After taking the kickoff, Redmen QB, Ron Yake handed off to Ted Pilcher and he ran for 35 yards to the Trojan six yard line. One play later Yake gave the ball to fullback Jamie Rogers who went off tackle for the major. Yake kicked the convert and the score was 7-0 Redmen. That was the extent of the Redmen offence for the balance of the game with the exception of two punts that went for singles by Yake to end the quarter at 9-0.

A very questionable interference call against the Redmen at their own 10 yard line set up the only offensive major by the Trojans, early in the second quarter. Lindsay attempted a two pt conversion and were unsuccessful, leaving the score at 9-6.

The Haliburton srs were moving the ball down field against the wind midway through the quarter when Yake attempted a pass in the flat but the wind held the ball up and it was intercepted at the 35yd line and run back for a TD putting Lindsay ahead 12-9. Lindsay added a single punt and the half ended 13-9.

There were no scoring plays in the third, but the Trojans added two insurance TDs in the fourth.

The first came from the Redmen 40 yr line and the second was when Haliburton was deep in Lindsay territory and a defender picked off another Yake pass and scampered 90 yds for a TD.

The offensive star was Jamie Rogers who picked up a total of 105 yards from the fullback position. Coach Brohman picked the entire defensive squad as standouts for their play in the whole game.

Jr. Redmen loose to Lindsay 9-0

HALIBURTON — The Redmen Juniors took to the field against junior varsity Trojans following the senior game and the Trojans came away with an 8-0 victory on a last quarter TD and two pt conversion.

The coaches gave honourable mention to defensive players Wayne Beaver and Scott Mitchell who shared the defensive play calling and also to Jeff Whitfield. The offensive star in a losing cause was Kelly Mitchell.

This was the first game of the season for the Redmen's Jr. varsity team and although they lost, they appear to have a very fine team and should pull out a victory or two in the games against Brock and Fenelon Falls.

Standings in the Sr. loop as of Oct. 9th have Lindsay Trojans first with four straight wins, Haliburton Redmen three wins and three losses, and a tie for third between Brock, I. E. Weldon and Fenelon's Falcons all with four pts.

The biggest upset of the season took place on Thursday evening in Cammington when the Brock Bulldogs, losers of their first four games by wide margins came through with a 28-0 win over Fenelon. This was a lift for the Redmen as they will be meeting Fenelon on Tues., Oct. 14 in Fenelon and a victory would just about sew up a playoff spot for the Juniors.

Avoid Unregistered Travel Agents Warns Consumer Ministry

Consumers should beware of dealing with any unregistered travel sellers included on a list released by the Ontario Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations.

The two travel wholesalers and 11 retail travel agents on the list have failed to renew their annual registrations. The deadline for filing the prescribed forms and paying the $100 registration fee was Aug. 31.

The list includes agents and wholesalers from Collingwood, Windsor, Toronto, Welland, Dundas and Hamilton.

All retail and wholesale travel sellers in Ontario are required to register with the ministry and to renew their registrations annually to remain in good standing with the Travel Industry Compensation Fund.

The compensation fund protects Ontario residents from loss in cases where they have failed to receive travel services which were paid for in advance. However this protection is available only to people who have dealt with a travel agent or wholesaler registered with the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations.

Huntsville driver captures Minden Kin. Demolition Derby

Crunch

MINDEN — The annual Minden Kinsmen Club's Demolition Derby attracted a crowd of over 400 on Saturday, where 36 drivers entered hoping to win the top prize of $1000 and the Brown's Auto Wrecking trophy. When the five hits were over and the feature event of the day had concluded, Laverne Green of Huntsville was the winner in a thrilling finish over Minden's own Barry Connelly, driving for Suggitt Auto Wrecking. Barry picked up the $500 second prize. Third place went to Lindsay's Wayne Greer. The consolation final was won by Mike Baker of Stouffville picking up $65.00. The powder puff derby was another disappointment as only two ladies entered. The $50 first prize went to Sandra Devins of Lindsay who defeated Elmvale's Marlene Bowman. Sandra also picked up the Dixie Lee cup for her win.

Art Holder Named Fisheries Director

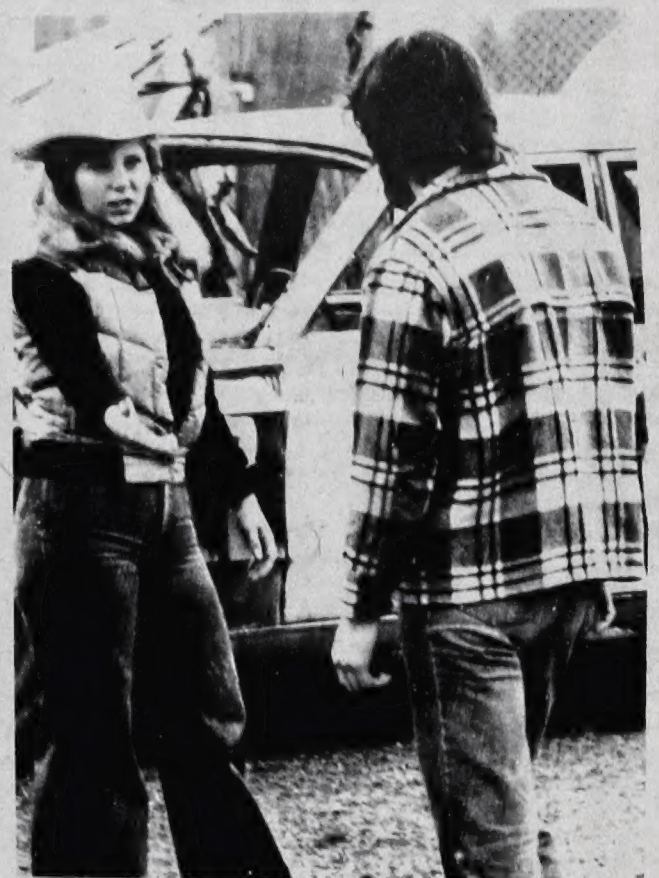

The appointment of Arthur S. Holder as Director of the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources' Fisheries Branch has been announced by Natural Resources Minister James Auld.

Mr. Holder has B.Sc. degrees from the University of Guelph, specializing in fisheries. He joined the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests in 1963, and gained broad field experience with that department and later with MNR.

He has served as district biologist at Maple, biologist with the Lake Simcoe Fisheries Management Unit, district fish and wildlife supervisor at North Bay and district forester at White River.

In December, 1972, Art Holder was promoted to deputy regional director, southwestern region, based in London. He moves from that post to his new appointment effective October 20.

His further involvement with Ontario fisheries management included being the provincial representative on the Lake Erie Fishery Commission, and a member of the federal-provincial Task Force on Strategic Planning for Ontario Fisheries. It was the latter group which came up with the S.P.O.F. program that the Fisheries branch is currently implementing on a multi-year basis.

The former fisheries director, Ken Loftus, was recently named Provincial Fisheries Scientist. Reporting to Lloyd H. Eckel, executive co-ordinator of the Ministry's outdoor recreation group, Mr. Loftus will direct his efforts primarily to the improvement of the use of science in fisheries management, and the development of strategy based upon the most up-to-date fisheries research and knowledge.

MNR hosts Peterson Road Day; tour of GW Martin Lumber

HARCOURT — Municipal officials, forest industry owners, area MPs and MPPs, news media and federal and provincial representatives attended the Peterson Road Day, Tuesday, Sept. 30th as guests of the Ministry of Natural Resources, to tour the Peterson Road reconstruction and the G. W. Martin Lumber Mill.

Natural Resources administers the project and monitors the progress for the Government of Ontario under the Eastern Ontario Subsidiary Agreement. The $800,000 road reconstruction project is new underway in North Hastings. The costs are shared equally by the Federal Department of Economic Expansion (DREE) and the Government of Ontario.

The upgrading of this road to meet Ministry of Transportation and Communications all-weather standards for the township road commences near the easterly junction with Hwy. 62 just north of Maynooth and extends westerly along the common boundary of Herschel and McClure Townships in Hastings County for a distance of about 9.3 kilometres.

The reconstruction details are being contracted through and supervised by the Bancroft office of the MTC and will be completed in 1981. This year the work covers 5.5 km of site clearing, rock excavating, grading, draining and sub base gravelling. The balance of 3.8 km will be done in 1981 and will include the granular A gravel surface of 9.3 km.

When finished, workers will have moved an estimated 2400 cubic metres of earth and rock and over 102,000 metric tons of gravel.

The purpose of this project is to improve the access to the forests in this area of Eastern Ontario in order to rehabilitate the stands and intensify forest management. The intent is to ensure supplies of wood fibre of sufficient quantity and quality for the local forest industry over the long term.

When completed this project will allow for the safe transport of forest products that move to and from the Martin Mill. It represents a reduction of 66 kilometers off the roundabout route that trucks are travelling presently thus reducing the wear and tear on the existing township and county roads and it will mean a saving of 2.2 million litres of fuel a year.

Following the return back to Maynooth from the G.W. Martin Lumber Mill, Senator Royce Frith, a guest speaker, indicated "this project was a good example of what happens in a good Canadian way".

"It is the taxpayer's money we are distributing" he said "and we want to know how we should distribute it for the benefit of all Canadians."

This project combines Federal and Provincial funds to encourage development already on its way.

"Mr. Grenville Martin is a successful operator" said Senator Frith and this all weather road will provide a shortcut to the mill to conserve energy consumption and to create jobs. This industry is doing a lot for Canadians." With help from the Federal government in conjunction with the Provincial government we can get things done in a Canadian way. Thanks on behalf of the Federal government for making this program work.

Next, Clarke T. Rollins, M.P.P. for Hastings-Peterborough was invited to speak and his address follows:

I am pleased to be here today, Senator Frith has explained the federal government's effort to assist the economic development of various parts of this country, including Eastern Ontario. To bring the subject a little closer to home, I will outline just exactly what the Federal and Provincial governments have agreed to do to boost the forestry economy of this area.

My colleague in the Ontario Legislature, James Auld of Brockville, the Minister of Natural Resources, would normally be here. However, when the date of this gathering was set, it was learned that Mr. Auld would be up on the western end of Lake Superior at Quetico Centre this morning. Later today he is to be in Dryden, Ontario. Because this forestry program is going to be beneficial to this area, which I represent, I am more than happy to stand in for him today.

The announcement, that the provincial and federal governments are going to spend a total of nine million dollars in eastern Ontario, is not altogether new. Last July, there was a similar gathering to this one in Larose Forest, east of Ottawa. At that time, Mr. Auld outlined the program to municipal and industrial representatives from that part of eastern Ontario.

So you see, the program takes in a very large area, stretching all the way from Hastings to Renfrew Counties and down to the St. Lawrence River.

This forestry program has three parts. All three are intended to keep the forest industry thriving.

The first part is an inventory of the forest itself. The forest managers of our Ministry of Natural Resources need up-to-date knowledge of just what kinds of trees there are in eastern Ontario, how old they are, what condition they are in, and where they are growing. The last inventory was taken just after the Second World

HARCOURT — Peterson Road Day was celebrated a week ago with a tour of the reconstruction of the road and the G. W. Martin Lumber operation. This is a "road reconstruction project for the creation of jobs and expan-

War. The forests have changed a great deal since then, through harvesting, planting, Dutch elm disease, new roads, and other developments all changing the face of the countryside.

The second part of the program is aimed at improving the forests we have.

About ninety per cent of the forest area in eastern Ontario is on private land. The Ministry of Natural Resources' woodlands improvement program, which is a service to landowners, will be expanded.

Cutting of some of the more valuable species in many woodlots has led to less valuable species taking over. This improvement program will show woodlot owners how the value of their property can be increased by removing the less desirable species, making way for the natural regeneration of, and sometimes planting of, the more valuable species.

There are acres of idle land that have not been profitable as farmland that could and should be converted to valuable timberland.

The third part of the program for forestry in eastern Ontario is to find new uses for the wood that we now have.

Changing technology is creating new uses for wood products. If we continue to think of wood products as being saw logs, fence posts, pulp for paper mills and fuel for wood stoves, we may be missing important new markets. A series of sawmilling clinics will be announced for 1981, '82 and '83, to upgrade the sawmilling profession.

Development and marketing research is an important part of the program.

Many of you know that $800,000 of the nine million will go into improving the forest access road that leads west to Harcourt. You may be wondering just how the Peterson Road Project fits into the forest industry improvement program, and the economic development program that Senator Frith and I have outlined

The upgrading of this road to meet Ministry of Transportation and Communications standards for a township road will cut 41 miles off the roundabout route that loads of wood and wood products take now to get from Maynooth to the G.W. Martin Lumber Mill. Because of the volume of wood handled at this mill, this new route will save some 500,000 gallons of fuel a year.

Additional savings will certainly be realized in road maintenance costs by removing the heavy logging truck volume from the Baptiste Road in Herschel Township.

But that's not all. At his mill, Martin is using a good deal of poorer quality wood thereby helping the forest managers make space for better species of trees.

Upgrading our forests is part of a long term improvement plan for this area. But there are short term benefits as well coming from the Peterson Road Project that will help keep this mill competitive.

Martin Lumber employs 300 people and when a new mill is completed, another 200 people will have permanent jobs here. It is estimated that the 500 people then being employed by the firm will bring a total gross income of ten million dollars a year into the North Hastings area. That has to benefit the whole community.

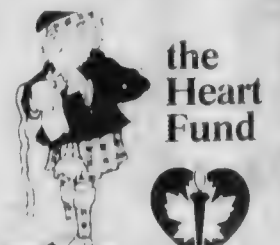

I want to stress that this development assistance we are about to see is not costing the communities concerned one penny. Furthermore, many other lumbering concerns such as Maple Leaf Lumber will also benefit from the program and those benefits too will be felt throughout the whole community.

For the forest economy to improve these days, more mill operators must consider diversifying, find new uses for the wood that is available close to their mills and think about cutting short logs because there just aren't as many high quality logs left right now.

I would like to close by saying there are good things coming from this economic development program for all of us. I hope you enjoy yourselves here today and take away with you an appreciation of what we are doing to help strengthen the economy of this part of Ontario.

Qutab Minar, an ornamental, freestanding tower in Delhi.

A view of Pearl Mosque (Moti Masjid) in the Red Fort.

Delhi: India's Show Window

Delhi, a unique city, juxtaposes traces of ancient cultures with the 20th century. In one of the most elegant capitals in the world mysterious empires have risen and fallen. You can trace a millennium of history in the ruins.

Delhi isn't one city, it's seven, (some experts claim eight). Each rose under the hand of a ruling dynasty with a single desire... to outdo the preceding one. Today, the splendor and opulence of Old Delhi stand side by side with the modern spaciousness of New Delhi, the seat of government and the site of India's Parliament.

To see the wonders of Delhi, you need at least three days. The garden city, with its lavishly landscaped, air-conditioned hotels, is both refreshingly restful and fascinating. Make Delhi your home base for excursions to other cities... Jaipur, the pink city of the Rajputs; Agra and its magnificent Taj Mahal; and the Khajuraho temples, with their unusual carvings. To catalogue Delhi's splendid sights would take volumes but here are a few musts for travellers.

1. The Red Fort - Built over 300 years ago as a symbol of Mughul glory, it dominates Delhi. The palace within the Fort's rosy sandstone walls is a monument to 17th century splendor, transporting you back in time to pearl-encrusted throne canopies, silk and velvet awnings and lumbering elephants in silver and gold livery. The builder of the Red Fort, the Shah Jahan, who later constructed the glorious Taj Mahal, is supposed to have first entered his throne room in a shower of silver and gold coins. See the evening Son-et-Lumiere spectacle to witness the past three centuries of Delhi's spell-binding history.

2. Jama Masjid - India's largest mosque and one of the East's most famous is an intricate work of architecture with an open cloister, colonnades, gates and domes. It's unforgettable when seen at dusk or dawn.

3. The Tomb of Humayun - South and southwest of the city is a magnificent monument built in the mid-16th century by a grieving widow in memory of her husband. The building, of red sandstone accented with black, white and yellow marble, is a forerunner in style to another romantic monument, the famous Taj Mahal in nearby Agra. Humayun's tomb marked the beginning of one of India's finest architectural periods.

4. The Qutab Minar - The 234 foot, 12th century "leaning tower" has been compared by some to the one in Pisa, but denies comparison with its graceful, crenelated balconies bursting into the air. Be sure to note the intricately carved quotations from the Koran decorating the monument. The Minar is considered among the finest towers in the world. Climb the 376 steps to its summit for a breath taking view of the surrounding area. At the foot of the Minar is the Quwwat-ul-

Islam Mosque, the first to be built in India. In its "courtyard" there is a 24 foot solid iron shaft, 1,500 years old and completely rust-proof.

5. Tughluqabad - A fortress of early warrior kings and the tomb of an early ruler, this impressive sandstone and marble structure boasts the first pure white dome of its type in India.

6. Nizam-ud-Din's Shrine - The burial place of saints, poets and scholars for over three centuries, its handsome Byzantine dome is one of the finest in the world.

7. Hauz-Khas - See the fascinating ruins of a once important university, uniquely arranged so that years ago the rooms were naturally air-conditioned to provide great comfort in both summer and winter.

These are but seven wonders of the old cities of Delhi; the eighth is New Delhi itself, a city characteristic of the progressive and dynamic India of today. In the Diplomatic Enclave, the newest part of New Delhi, there are excellent examples of modern architecture, including its fine hotels. The Rajpath in New Delhi, an avenue as broad and graceful as any in Paris, is the occasional site of colourful parades and pageants. The Rajpath leads to the government buildings which look like miniatures against the broad boulevard.

No trip to Delhi is complete without savouring some of the artistic history enshrined in its museums. The National Museum offers one of the richest and most comprehensive collections of Indian art. Starting with fragments of prehistoric eras, it traces the evolution of Indian sculpture, bronzes, the paintings of the medieval period and even includes sections on the minor arts and the various costumes of India.

Many visitors set aside a few days just for shopping when they see the variety of goods on display at such incredibly low prices. There is Chandni Chowk, the Street of Moonlight, where little shops sell sweetmeats and silver, perfumes and precious stones side by side. Connaught Circus is a huge, circular, doric-columned commercial complex encircling a terraced garden built around a massive and radiant fountain.

Then there is the gaiety of other markets, a kaleidoscope of colours, sounds, smells and goods. Dealers in exquisite carpets rub shoulders with automobile dealers as the traditional and the modern skills of India complement each other. Clothing, brassware and antiques overflow the shops onto the streets. It's a festival celebrating ancient talents at bargain prices.

Notice the people in Delhi. They are a cross-section of the peoples of India, representing the traditions of many centuries in their colourful clothing.

The most spectacular and colourful sight in India is New Delhi's Rajpath on Republic Day, January 26th. Representatives from every state, all wings of the Indian Forces, army, navy, and air force, folk dancers, children in period costume, horsemen trooping in squadrons, jingling camels parading, caparisoned elephants patiently plodding and bands playing in full regalia make the entire vista down to India Gate a roaring, vibrant riot of colours and sounds, a condensed version of India with all its complexity, diversity and pageantry. If you're in India at this time, don't miss it.

These are just a few of the attractions of Delhi. There are more than a thousand sights, and nearly all of them guaranteed to make the most jaded traveller sit up and take

Canada Geese Best Bet For Successful Hunt

Hunting for Canada geese will likely be better than average in the central and southern parts of the province, with success in Northern Ontario at least as good as last year, an Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources spokesman said.

"But those hunting snow geese will be disappointed," warned Paul Prevett, biologist for the ministry's Moosonee District.

"Because of poor weather and scarcity of food last spring, snow goose hunting around James and Hudson Bays is expected to be the poorest since 1972," Prevett said.

Much of the food supply on the easternmost prairies, a stopping-off point for the geese on their northward migration, was severely diminished by a spring drought. Female snow geese deserted their eggs to search for food. High winds and snowstorms also hit some northerly colonies, killing many newly-hatched young.

The province's goose hunting season ends December 21.

Starting dates are listed by areas in the Ontario hunting summary.

Flexible sealant makes life easier for home handyman

As the home handyman refurbishes his supplies to winterize his home this fall, he's going to see something new on the shelves of hardware stores and hardware departments.

Dap/Arno, a division of Scholl Canada Inc., has developed a silicone sealant which has been designed for both household and industrial use.

The sealant is the latest addition to the Dap/Arno line, which includes glazing, general sealing products, adhesives, plumbing compounds, pressure sensitive tapes... and it's the first new development at Dap/Arno since joining the Scholl family.

The silicone sealant comes in three variations: general purpose white, general purpose clear, and white bathtub caulk. The latter has an anti-mildew additive.

Applied from a caulking gun, the sealant has proven to be highly versatile, and can be used not only on buildings, but also on cars, boats and electrical appliances. And it has excellent adhesive and cohesive qualities... especially when it comes to metal and glass.

More important, the silicone sealant has one of the highest rates of flexibility of any sealing product on the market today. The cured silicone remains flexible through changes in temperature from -60 degrees Celsius to plus 200 degrees Celsius. Though it's unlikely you'll ever work in these extremes, you can apply it in temperatures as low as -40 Celsius or as high as plus 70 Celsius.

Three months in the making, Dap/Arno officials say the advent of the silicone sealant is like adding the Cadillac to their line of products, which includes a full range of caulking. So far, Kwik-Seal has been the company's number one seller, followed by Acrylic Latex and Butyl-Flex.

According to a 1979 survey of building materials retailing, conducted by Building Supply Dealer, Dap/Arno caulking and sealants led the list of best selling products. For their new product, Dap/Arno officials are targeting in on 10 per cent of the consumer market, and 2 per cent of the industrial market over the next six months.

The silicone sealant is a feature performer at trade shows being attended by Dap/Arno this fall, in Toronto, Windsor, Moncton and Winnipeg.

Stephen Boru 20, of Rexdale was eastbound, rounding a curve, lost control left the road and hit a tree stump. The incident was reported later Saturday morning. PC Boyd Jarvis.

St. Catharines man drowns in Koshlong Lake on Wed., Oct. 8

MINDEN — OPP had another drowning victim this past week when a 72 year old St. Catharines man, John Edward Carruthers was out on Koshlong Lake with his wife Eleanor and brother Hugh to check a cottage on Wallace Island and view the fall colours. Shortly after heading out onto the lake their boat capsized and Mr. Carruthers drowned. All were wearing life jackets at the time of the accident. PC Al Barnes and Cpl. P. Alexander.

DWIGHT MAN IS CHARGED

As the result of a complaint by a juvenile of rape, Constable Al Bibby of the Minden OPP conducted an investigation into this matter and a charge was laid against Kenneth Gordon Card 20, of Dwight.

Your community Shoppers Drug Mart store is part of a big and growing bigger network. The 400th store opened this month in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

"Bigness is not the point," president Jack Gwartz is quick to point out. "We're really 400 independent drug store businesses, each headed by a licensed pharmacist, each running his or her own business."

Gwartz goes on to explain that under the franchise concept of the Shoppers Drug Mart network, every store is operated by an independent community pharmacist who is assisted by the strength and buying power of the total group.

2 Senior Citizen buildings were opened in County this week

Two senior citizens apartment buildings, one in Haliburton and the other in Minden officially opened yesterday, with the ceremony being performed by the Honourable Claude F. Bennett, Minister of Housing for Ontario.

The Haliburton apartment on Mountain Street, has 35 units housing 37 residents and was built at a cost of $706,912 by Conforzi-Smith Ltd. of Toronto.

The 20 unit Minden building on Bobcaygeon Rd will house 21 people and was built at a cost of $481,553 by Westmount Engineering Construction Ltd. of Peterborough.

Federal, provincial and municipal government representatives were on hand for the official openings, which took place at 11 am in Minden and at 2 pm in Haliburton.

POSSESSION OF NARCOTICS

Provincial Constable Al Bibby while assisting Constable Dennis Potter had occasion to arrest and search Terrance Michael Leo Jones 21, of Toronto and a quantity of cannabis resin was seized. The arrest took place on Hwy. 35 south of Minden.

CHARGED FOR SHOPLIFTING

The Red and White Food store in Wilberforce was the scene of a shop lifting offence on Friday, Oct. 10th. Minden OPP have charged John David Weedon 18 of Harcourt. PC Al Barnes.

"That's the way bigness makes sense," says Gwartz.

"Through pooled buying and advertising, we put drug store products on our shelves at very attractive prices because we pass the savings along to the consumer."

There may be twice as many savings for consumers in the future. Gwartz predicts that in five years the Shoppers Drug Mart network may be twice as big as it is today.

Are the banks getting too big?

By C.H. Bray

Every Canadian pays a visit to a chartered bank an average of at least once a week. But I wonder how many of us are aware that banks are going to be very much different places in a few months, and more likely in a few short weeks?

They'll look the same and, for most of us, they'll behave much the same. We'll deposit money, withdraw money, arrange loans, repay loans, issue cheques, and continue to use banks for the same things that banks are there for.

But they're going to be radically different. And because banks are the biggest private institutions in this country, the changes will alter our way of life.

The vehicle for this change is Bill C-6, the proposed basis for a new federal Bank Act. Bill C-6 is so controversial that it's been debated in various forms for more than five years now. We're supposed to get a new Bank Act every 10 years, but this one's more than three years overdue.

For that and for other reasons, the federal government is anxious to get the whole business cleared up once and for all -- or at least for another 10 or so years. The target date for proclamation of the new act is November 30, which is only two weeks after Parliament is scheduled to convene.

If the new legislation is enacted in the present form of Bill C-6:

- Foreign-owned banks would be allowed to operate in Canada for the first time. Officials expect there would be 40 to 50 of them.

- Investments by banks in several kinds of subsidiaries would no longer be limited to $5 million. There would be no such limit.

- The wholly-owned subsidiaries of banks, prohibited before, would be able to make many kinds of investments that banks themselves are denied.

- Banks, through a subsidiary, would be able to own and lease income-producing property, such as apartment buildings, shipping plazas, manufacturing plants, and farms.

- Banks, through a subsidiary, would be able to own so that they could lease, aircraft, ships, railway cars, locomotives, construction cranes, mining and logging equipment, and fleets of heavy trucks.

There are many people in the financial industry -- and many MP's -- who are fearful of some of the consequences of Bill C-6. But the constitutional debate notwithstanding, the Liberal government is giving a high priority to the passage of a new Bank Act by the end of November.

What would Bill C-6 do? It's difficult to summarize the contents of a document several hundred pages long, but the main thrust of the bill is said to be to increase competition among the banks.

There are at present 11 chartered banks in Canada, and the field is overwhelmingly dominated by the Big Five, which are ten times bigger than the other six combined. Increased competition is therefore a desirable objective.

What the government is proposing is to vastly expand the powers of the banks, and at the same time to transform existing competing financial service companies into "banks." Many of these latter companies are foreign-controlled, and in total the Canadian dollar assets of all these new banks will be limited to eight per cent of the assets of the entire Canadian banking system.

If bank powers are to be expanded, then doesn't it follow that the Big Five will become the Even Bigger Five? And even if the result is more competition among the banks, I wonder whether it will be at the risk of less competition, and less choice for the consumer, in our overall financial services industry.

By putting the restraints of the Bank Act on companies which already provide important financial services in Canada, just so that they can be called "banks", will the public get a better deal?

C.H. Bray is President of the Association of Canadian Financial Corporations.

Show us a fellow with a lot of hash marks on his sleeve and we'll show you a sloppy eater.

We'd love to go back to the good old days -- if we could take along electricity and indoor plumbing.
